President To Leave Mexico On Thursday

Will Stop At Waco, Texas, Enroute Home For Foreign Policy Speech

LEAVES SATURDAY FOR CARRIBEAN

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 5.—President Truman, who is being toasted by all Mexico as a "true friend," paid further homage today to the ancient culture of the extraordinary southern neighbor of the United States.

The American chief executive spent the last day of his three-day goodwill visit, during which he has captivated the hearts of these emotional people, by visiting monuments to a civilization which flourished at a high peak before the U. S. was colonized.

Goes Sightseeing
The President was to spend the morning abroad his airplane "Sacred Cow" on a 600-mile flight to see Mexico's newest active paricutin volcano.

His afternoon schedule called for a motor visit to the astonishing pyramids built by the ancient Aztecs 25 miles from Mexico City. These two huge stone structures are higher than the pyramids of Egypt—all that the Aztecs were able to save from the scorched earth destruction of that civilization by Hernando Cortez.

The pyramids, which were devoted to sun worship by the Aztecs, once dotted the broad plains of Mexico on which the modern capital of Mexico with a population of two million is now situated.

Later in the afternoon he is to receive members of the U. S. Embassy staff at the Casino Militar. A private dinner with Mexican President Miguel Aleman at the latter's house will follow in the evening.

Speaks on Thursday
Thursday morning at 6 a. m. President Truman will take his leave of Mexico for a flight to Waco, Tex.

There he will make one of the most important speeches he has delivered in months when he speaks at Baylor university at noon (CST). A 2 p. m. takeoff will start him back to Washington where the President is expected to return by late evening.

After spending one day back in the White House, President Truman will again board the "Sacred Cow" at 10 a. m. Saturday for the start of a two-week trip to the Caribbean area.

This journey will take him to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands and also enable the President to witness U. S. fleet maneuvers.

SHIP BREAKING UP

DUBLIN, Mar. 5.—(INS)—The Norwegian grainship Bolivar was breaking up today on a sandbank in storm-lashed Dublin bay.

Britain's Admiral Lord Mountbatten and his wife were among the 51 passengers and crew members taken off the distressed vessel yesterday by tug and lifeboats battling mountainous seas.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Mrs. Allan Cartwright Sr., 1107 Wilmington avenue, reported to Pa News this morning that a pheasant was feeding in her back yard this morning.

Curious about whether there was a "Church of the Lutheran Hour" in New Castle, one resident says inquiry reveals that the church is Christ Lutheran church on East Washington street at the corner of Beckford street.

With the aid of the weatherman, State Highway department employees expect to have the last of the rural roads free of snow today which has had some of them clogged up since Monday's high winds. Plows have been on the roads since early Monday morning making slow but steady progress against the mountain-like snowdrifts that are on many of the roads.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:
Maximum temperature, 33.
Minimum temperature, 20.
No precipitation.

Freak Blizzard In London Causes Tie-up

LONDON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—An estimated half of London's business employees failed to arrive for work today as a result of the greatest transport tie-up in the history of the British capital.

The tie-up was caused by a freak blizzard during the night which was accompanied by 60-mile-an-hour winds and was followed by the icing of roads.

Committee Of Senate Favors Rent Increase

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(INS)—A senate banking subcommittee today approved a bill which would provide a flat 10 per cent rent ceiling increase and end the office of price administration.

The measure, which was sent to the full committee, would base the rent rise on figures as of December 31, 1946.

It would make the courts the enforcement instrument for rent control and would turn over to the commerce department the records of OPA.

Approved By 3-2 Vote
The bill, approved by a three to two vote of the subcommittee, also would eliminate from all rent control permanent hotel accommodations, new housing and new rental units.

Dwellings renting for more than $225 a month also would be removed from ceiling limitations.

The proposed legislation would impose a penalty of triple damages or $500, whichever is greater, for rent ceiling violations.

It would give the states permission to raise rents.

Russia Recruiting German Scientists In American Zone

By TOM AGOSTON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FRANKFURT, Mar. 5.—Representatives of Soviet-controlled rocket plants in the Russian zone of Germany were revealed today to be systematically recruiting German V-2 rocket scientists from the United States zone.

An employment contract left by a Soviet "recruiting" agent in the home of a Frankfurt engineer proves that widespread reports of these activities are true.

This German scientist—formerly a researcher at the Peenemunde German rocket station—said many of his former colleagues also have been offered jobs at rocket plants both in the red zone of Germany and the Soviet Union.

He said the "recruiting" agent has approached him twice since Christmas, but has been unable to sell him the idea of leaving the U. S. zone.

He described the agent as speaking "perfect German," and traveling in an automobile with Soviet license plates. He believed that the agent was traveling on an inter-zonal "business" pass.

FATALLY BURNED

PITTSBURGH, March 5.—(INS)—The Allegheny county coroner's office reported today that Miss Olga M. Kropff, 65, a retired school teacher, was fatally burned yesterday when her dress caught fire from a gas stove in her home in Pittsburgh.

City Library Receives Large Memorial Gift

Dr. And Mrs. Eliah Kaplan Establish Fund In Memory Of Joshua Kaplan

Dedicated to the memory of their son, Joshua Kaplan, the New Castle free public library has received a gift of $2500 from Dr. and Mrs. Eliah Kaplan for the purpose of establishing the Joshua Memorial Collection of books. It was announced today by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

An amount not to exceed one-half of the sum, which has been accepted by the library, will be devoted to the initial establishment of the memorial collection of volumes "to further a better understanding among men."

Net income from the remainder is to be devoted annually to the purchase of books of a type similar and appropriate to the initial collection.

While flying a mission from England to Africa as an AAF pilot during World War II, First Lt. Joshua Kaplan went down with his plane.

Statehood For Hawaii Is Urged

Secretary Krug And Congressmen, Back From Pacific Tour, Urge Action

MORE CIVIL RULE ON PACIFIC ISLAND

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Secretary of Interior Krug and two congressmen today urged statehood for Hawaii and early establishment of civil government of the Pacific islands.

Krug and Reps. Engel (D) and Paulsen (R) both of California, announced their support of Hawaiian statehood upon their return to Washington from a 24,000-mile flying trip to the Pacific.

Krug told reporters at Washington airport that "I feel more strongly than ever that this is the time for Hawaiian statehood."

The interior secretary also said he was more convinced than ever that there should be "a greater degree of civil rule" in Pacific islands held by the United States. He particularly urged more civil government for Guam and Samoa.

Support Krug's Views

Both congressmen supported Krug's views on Hawaiian statehood and a change in the form of government in the U. S. held Pacific islands.

Krug and the congressmen praised the job being done by Gen. (Continued on Page Two)

Lilienthal Vote Seen Thursday

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, chairman of the senate atomic committee, today said "urgency, externally and internally" for senate action on David E. Lilienthal and other atomic commission appointees.

Hickenlooper said that President Truman's nominations probably will be voted on by the committee tomorrow.

He said he will send "the report to the senate floor promptly and try to get action 'at the earliest possible moment'."

Meanwhile, atomic committee senators prepared to go into another closed-door session with the commission appointees this afternoon.

Safeguarding the bomb secrets will be a major topic of discussion, it was disclosed.

Soviet To Make Statement On Atomic Control

Expect Important Statement At Security Council Late This Afternoon

GROMYKO WILL GIVE VIEWPOINT

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Mar. 5.—The Soviet government will make an important statement on atomic control today when the United Nations security council reconvenes at 3 p. m.

The latest viewpoint of the Russian government on atomic energy is to be presented by its chief delegate at Lake Success, Andrei Gromyko, immediately after the eleven-nation body reconvenes.

Sources close to the Soviet delegation indicated that the powerful, polit-bureau in the Kremlin carefully prepared the statement over the past ten days before forwarding it to New York.

Primary Item

The primary item on the council's agenda is a United States proposal that the security council refer the controversial report of the atomic energy commission—which includes the Baruch plan for vetoes inspection, control and punishment—back to the 12-nation parent body.

Advance indications are that a majority vote in favor of such action is certain, although the impending Soviet statement may toss

Autopsy Shows Bullet Caused Morsell's Death

Following an autopsy upon the body of John Morsell, 33, of 19 South Front street, who died late Tuesday morning at the New Castle hospital, it was discovered that a bullet wound had been the cause of his death.

District Attorney Leroy Donaldson immediately began an investigation into the possible circumstances.

Morsell was taken to the New Castle hospital on Monday night, it being thought at the time that he had a fractured skull, or some injury of this nature.

Found By Wife

His wife told officials yesterday that her husband was asleep in a chair when she left the home, Monday evening and went down town for a time. When she returned Mr. Morsell was on the floor, bleeding, and unconscious. He was removed to the hospital.

The autopsy which revealed that the cause of death was a bullet wound, showed that a 38 calibre revolver bullet had entered his head near the temple and deflected downward, shattering his jawbone and lodging in his throat.

Mrs. Morsell was questioned today by the district attorney as to her knowledge of the affair. No charge has been made against her, she merely being questioned.

Born In 1884

Mr. Morsell was born February 11, 1884, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morsell. He was a pipe-fitter at the Pennsylvania Roundhouse for 26 years. The deceased resided in this country for 50 years, settling in this city. He was a member of the Casa Savoia Society and the Old Veterans club of the lodge.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Morsell, survives, and the following children: Mrs. Anna Dangio, Youngstown; James, of Detroit; Warrant Officer Frank, of U. S. Navy, Salem, Md. and Mrs. Josephine Prasso, this city. A son, Cpl. Joan Morsell was killed at Corregidor, in 1941.

The body is at the DeCarbo funeral home, where friends may call after 8 o'clock tonight. Funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

Dinner Meeting Launches 1947 Red Cross Drive

Miss Louisa Farrand Addresses Workers, Clubs, At Cathedral Affair Tuesday

START CAMPAIGN FOR GOAL OF $25,000

"Next to the churches, I believe that the American Red Cross is the greatest instrument we possess to forge a lasting peace," said Miss Louisa Farrand, public relations staff member of the National ARC headquarters, as the county kick-off dinner Tuesday evening in the Cathedral.

Speaking before some 200 persons, Miss Farrand, veteran of 42 months overseas in Red Cross work, concluded a forthright and informative address with her firm belief that the ARC would play a vital role in building a permanent peace because its primary function is to bring sanctuary and relief to the needy and unfortunate peoples of the world.

Campaign Launched

Miss Farrand's appearance here officially launched the county effort which this year is aimed to raise $25,000 to continue Red Cross work here. The dinner meeting was sponsored by the Kiwanis club, with representatives of other service organizations attending also.

Brief remarks by S. Glenn McCracken, 1947 drive chairman, and Dr. Wilbur Flannery, president of the county chapter, preceded Miss Farrand's address. Joe Hartman acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

Miss Virginia Cunningham, local ARC worker, now on leave, was introduced as a special guest.

Group singing was led by Sam Lewis while vocal selections were given by the Consistory quartet and George Peacock, assisted by E. E. Bransetter at the piano.

Claims Sabotage

Introduced by President Flannery, Miss Farrand pulled no punches as she immediately tackled the current issue of gripes about the Red Cross which she said has reached huge proportions across the nation.

"The work of criticism spawned out of misinformation is sabotaging the work of the organization," said Miss Farrand, who has just completed a tour of the world.

British Curfew In Jerusalem Being Defied

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Mar. 5.—(INS)—U. S. Ambassador to Poland Arthur Bliss Lane charged today that the Polish government is holding at least 100 American citizens in jail.

Lane, who returned to the United States today aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth, said that despite his persistent efforts in Warsaw he has been able to see only one of those held.

He said she is Mrs. Irene Dmochowska, charged with illegally possessing firearms and aiding antigovernment Polish forces.

Lane said Mrs. Dmochowska was a member of the U. S. embassy staff at the time she was seized.

At the same time, Lane charged former UNRRA Director F. H. LaGuardia with breaking a promise to him that LaGuardia would protest against Polish treatment of U. S. citizens.

Youthful Sled Rider Succumbs

McKEESPORT, Pa., March 5.—(INS)—Seven-year-old Charles Doyle, of West Elizabeth, died today in McKeesport hospital of injuries suffered Thursday when struck by a hit-run driver while sled-riding.

Hospital attaches reported that James H. Egan, 10, and Richard Splenda, six, both of McKeesport, were being treated for injuries received when their sleds crashed into automobiles in separate accidents.

Snow Avalanches Reported In Japan

TOKYO, March 5.—(INS)—The Tokyo newspaper Asahi reported today that Mount Fuji is experiencing its worst snow avalanches in history due to recent rains and warm weather.

Rescue teams were attempting to rescue ten electrical company workers reported in danger near the top of the famed mountain.

Falling snows have destroyed power and communications cables strung around the mountain.

Respite From Cold Promised District

(By International News Service)

Western Pennsylvania today was promised the first respite from sub-freezing temperatures within two weeks.

The weather bureau forecast temperatures would rise above the freezing mark, but light snow was expected. A little colder was expected Thursday with occasional snow flurries.

Meanwhile, snowbound communities in northwestern and central areas continued to dig out from extremely heavy weekend snow storms.

Only a few highways were open in Warren and Erie counties and bus and train transportation was delayed.

The advent of warmer weather failed to bring any relief to industry which has been hampered by natural gas curtailments.

Three major gas companies serving 350 firms announced they could not predict how soon supplies would return to normal. The Peoples Gas company, which had been giving partial service to commercial customers, cut off all industrial users last night.

Approximately 50,000 workers remained in enforced idleness because of the shortage.

Senator Asserts Must Broaden U. S. May Send Troops To Greece

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Sen. Hatch (D) N. M., declared today that it ultimately may become necessary to send American troops into Greece and other troubled areas of the world.

Hatch, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, said: "In an expanding foreign policy now contemplated it ultimately might become necessary to have our troops go into various parts of the world."

"I do not mean Greece particularly but the general overall possibilities."

At the same time, Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., urged that the United States enter into treaties of alliance against future German aggression similar to the new 50-year British-French pact signed at Dunkirk.

Town Sold As War Surplus

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(INS)—The Geneva Steel Co., today bought Utah town of 2,500 people from the government for one million, 553 thousand dollars cash.

The town was Dragerton, which was sold by the War Assets Administration as war surplus.

It was developed by the government in 1943 at a cost of more than four million, 530 thousand dollars to shelter families of coal miners employed at the mines of the Geneva Steel plant.

Under the terms of the sale, the Geneva Company proposes to lease the 605 homes in Dragerton to its employees at "reasonable rentals" and from time to time offer the houses for sale.

WAA said that the schoolhouse, which cost the government $276,000 will be sold to town authorities for a dollar, and the town church, which cost $18,000 will be disposed of similarly.

Will Require Months

One U. S. official predicted that at least "several months" would be required to wipe out the disease in Mexico after the eradication program is launched. This program will be started shortly after conclusion of the Washington meeting.

A quarantine already has been placed on the importation of Mexican cattle into the United States, but officials pointed out that presence of the disease in Mexico will continue to represent a threat to the multi-million dollar U. S. livestock industry until infected animals are destroyed.

Officials declined to estimate the cost of the program to this country. They pointed out that congress has not yet set aside any funds for the work although it authorized U. S. participation.

To Cost U. S. Millions
One of the main problems to be decided by the commission is the sharing of expenses between the two nations for the slaughtering of infected cattle. The program is expected to cost the U. S. millions of dollars.

U. S. Delegation To Treaty Parley Starts For Russia

Secretary Of State Marshall And Aides Leave Washington This Morning

DIFFICULT PARLEY SEEN BY MARSHALL

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall left Washington for Moscow at 9:11 a. m. (EST) today, gloomily predicting that the foreign ministers conference will result in little more than agreement on fundamentals for a German peace treaty.

Marshall, just before he boarded an air transport command plane, declared that the Moscow meeting would be "extremely difficult and the consequences momentous."

He said he would be "very much pleased" if the Big Four foreign ministers succeeded in reaching agreements even on major fundamental principles regarding the treaty with Germany.

The secretary said in a statement at the Washington National Airport: "I fully recognize that the negotiations in Moscow will be extremely difficult and the consequences momentous."

The deputies have made some progress drafting the Austrian treaty so the foreign ministers should be able to consider it before completion of the Moscow meeting.

"The situation regarding the German issue is quite different since the deputies so far have only been engaged in listening to the statements of the Allied countries concerned other than the Big Four so we have not yet reached agreement on the great fundamental principles which will be the basis for the treaty regarding Germany."

"If we are successful in reaching agreements on the major fundamental principles I would feel very much pleased."

Treaty Draft Unlikely
"It would appear now extremely doubtful that the treaty draft could be completed for consideration at this conference."

Marshall was seen off at the National Airport by members of the diplomatic corps and state department officials.

Among those at the airport were Secretary of Treasury John Snyder, (Continued on Page Two)

New Home Economics Supervisor On Job

Miss Emmeline Mehlman Succeeds Mrs. Mary Ellen Hollobaugh Who Recently Resigned

Miss Emmeline Mehlman, of Geilston, Cambria county, arrived here today to take up her duties as home economics extension worker in Lawrence county, succeeding Mrs. Mary Ellen Hollobaugh, who recently resigned her post here to join her husband at Erie.

Miss Mehlman is a graduate of Indiana State Teachers college and since last August has been assistant extension worker in Butler and Westmoreland counties.

With the coming of the summer season when this work is stressed among the Four-H club girls, Miss Mehlman will be busy getting acquainted with the woman and girls on the farms of Lawrence county and will map out an interesting program in home economics for the farm women.

House Moves To End Deportation Halting Practice

Long-Standing Practice, Termed 'Racket' By Congressmen, Has Been Ended

By RAYMOND WILCOVE (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 5. — A long-standing practice, bluntly termed "a racket" today by one congressman, has been ended in the House. Senate action also was promised soon.

The House Judiciary committee has put a stop to a custom of some 12 years standing by which many members of Congress have been able to halt the deportation of an alien by introduction of a bill designed to establish his legal residence.

The same bill, in many cases, was constantly reintroduced. Rep. Michener (R) Mich., acting on behalf of the committee, of which he is chairman, has sent Attorney General Clark a letter advising him that "you may feel free to disregard the practice of staying deportation proceedings" unless the committee itself officially requests a delay.

"Got To Be Racket"

Rep. Celler (D) N. Y., ranking minority member, said:

"It got to be a racket. Something had to be done about it."

The committee acted after officials of the naturalization and immigration services and the State department appealed to it to relieve them of "an embarrassing situation."

The officials explained that because of the "courtesy" extended to members of Congress it has been impossible to deport many undesirable aliens, among them criminals.

What made the situation all the more awkward, explained several committee members, was that the immigration and naturalization service has no right under the law to halt deportations as a "courtesy" to congressmen.

One hundred and ten members of the House were said to have introduced about 300 bills, with 36 senators contributing another 100.

The House Judiciary committee was reportedly informed that the "courtesy" extended to members by the immigration and naturalization service has cost the government thousands of dollars.

In the Bay of Biscay and was subsequently reported missing by the war department since November 17, 1942.

At the University of Pennsylvania November 16, '46, Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity dedicated a collection of books in the university library for the same purpose. "to further a better understanding among men" as a memorial to six members of the fraternity who lost their lives in World War II of whom Joshua Kaplan was one.

To Display As Unit

In the library here, according to Miss Sterling, the collection will be permanently displayed as a unit in a place conveniently accessible and it will be a loan collection.

Setting up of the new collection may be delayed, Miss Sterling said, until the new stacks are put up in the library this coming summer in order that a suitable place may be allotted to the collection.

This is the first large memorial gift that has been presented to the library since the establishment of the William McKean Brown collection some years ago.

U. S. DELEGATION TO TREATY PARLEY STARTS FOR RUSSIA

the British ambassador, Lord Inverchapel, French chargé d'affaires François La Coste and Ambassador Designate to Great Britain Lewis W. Douglas.

Marshall and his party planned to fly the southern route by way of Bermuda to Paris.

There Marshall will be guest of the French president, Vincent Auriol, and it was believed they would discuss the possibility of a treaty to assure United States participation in European affairs for the next 25 to 40 years.

Ask France To Align

It was believed certain that the secretary would make a strong bid to induce France to align that nation with the western powers in the growing diplomatic contest with the Soviet-dominated areas.

Marshall was accompanied by Ben Cohen, state department counselor, and Charles E. Bohlen, Russian expert and translator for secretaries of state ever since diplomatic relations were established in 1934 between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The secretary was expected to show a more aggressive attitude toward the Soviet Union than any of his predecessors. As a military man he has been well schooled in the possible attitudes Russia may take. Moreover, he has repeatedly said that he regards the current world situation as "critical."

The Greek situation appeared to be a major point of conflict between Moscow as against London and Washington.

Douglas MacArthur in Japan. They said MacArthur favored more civil government for Pacific islands.

The interior secretary said that the general believes that "Pacific people are very adaptable to democracy." Krug added:

"General MacArthur also believes that, properly handled, the 80 million Japanese are the greatest barrier we have against forces of government that we don't like."

More Civil Government

In urging more civil government for the Pacific islands, Krug and the congressmen emphasized that they had no criticism of Navy administration of the islands. They explained, however, that they feel more civil government should be consistent with Democratic principles.

Krug said that he would appear before the House Public Lands committee Friday "to lay out the case for statehood of Hawaii." Engel and Paulson said they also would express their views to the committee.

On their trip, the party visited Hawaii, Samoa, Kwajalein, Guam, Okinawa, and Wake Islands. The group also stopped at Shanghai and Tokyo. Hawaiian Delegate Joseph Farrington accompanied Krug and the congressmen on the Pacific tour.

Informed sources said today that members of legislative committees presently favor:

1. Additional one cent per package tax on cigarettes.

2. An increase in the state income tax to bring the rates to 60 instead of 50 per cent of normal.

Junior Workers Dinner Tonight At 'Y' Branch

Boys' Division Will Launch Campaign; Announce Senior Group Team Captains

Junior division chairmen and their workers will launch their Y.M.C.A. membership campaign tonight with a dinner meeting at the central branch beginning at 6 p. m.

John Hodge, general chairman of this year's effort of the association, will address the boys at the meeting, and William Winter, program activities secretary of the branch, will instruct the junior members in drive procedure. Wayne Gary, chairman of the "Army" division, and Sid Lockley Jr., leader of the "Navy" group, will also speak to their teams as the campaign is officially begun.

Senior Captains

Captains of the senior teams were announced today by Chairman Hodge with the following members appointed leaders: "Army" division, Larry Perelman, chairman; Richard Rentz, Robert Strickler, Delace Cole, Bill Eroe, Paul Gilbert, Jim Abraham and Gilbert Levine, "Navy" division, Kenneth McLure, chairman; Preston Fletcher, Sid Lockley Sr., Frank Coen, L. W. Campbell and Tom Elliott.

The junior members will hold their kick-off dinner March 18 at the "Y" banquet hall.

pleted nine months touring the country to sound out remarks detrimental to the work of the ARC.

"I am not attempting to whitewash the Red Cross," said the national headquarters staffer, "made mistakes, lots of them, just as the armed forces, industry and private citizens made mistakes during the rush of the war years. We made errors in judgement in our administrative policy and in many cases our personnel overseas also made mistakes."

Passed on by Vets

Strangely enough, said the speaker, most of the injurious comment abroad today has been started by the veterans themselves. Most of these critics, she claimed, have little basis for their attack and many never were in need of Red Cross help. Their comments, however, are picked up by friends and family and have now snowballed into a large cry.

"In my tour of the nation," said Miss Farrand, "I have not met a dozen of these critics who can give me actual names and places in regard to their gripes about Red Cross service. It is this rebellion, a natural reaction of the fighting life following his return to civilian life after service overseas, which makes him lash out at many things. Without sufficient reason we have been included in this attack."

Cites Examples

Miss Farrand cited many of the gripes currently afoot and with logic and reason, explained the policy behind them.

Food and lodging were charged for overseas at the request of the War department in a specific letter to the ARC chairman by Secretary of War Stimson. Such charges that the Red Cross sold cigarettes, clothing and blood plasma are completely unfounded said the speaker.

A common complaint heard is that the Red Cross workers overseas were "brass happy," preferring officers to enlisted men in social contacts.

"In some instances this is undoubtedly true," said Miss Farrand, "ARC workers were given courtesy rank during the war, equivalent to that of nurses and WAC officers. Therefore they were in contact with officers more than enlisted personnel socially. From my own observation and experience, however, most of the workers I knew in Europe preferred to work in enlisted men's clubs."

Paints Grim Picture

Miss Farrand painted a grim picture of Europe during the war and her own harrowing experiences in Antwerp, Belgium, during the height of the "buzz-bomb" attacks. She was in charge of four Red Cross clubs in the city when it was under siege by the Germans in their last push in the winter of 1944.

Summing up her remarks the Red Cross veteran struck out at the complacency of the American public and warned that unless we do everything we can as individuals, we shall not salvage peace. We must cast off selfishness and smugness, she urged, and work for peace through open minds and being prepared.

"If we do not take stock of ourselves and our nation's position in today's troubled world," concluded Miss Farrand, "it will be too late when the fury of another war is unleashed and we may perhaps find ourselves the battleground that was Europe."

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS
CHILDS

Sees Split Authority As Hurting Nation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Underlying nine-tenths of the confusion and conflict in Washington today is one central, paramount fact: that almost no one speaks about or thinks about. It is almost as though a deliberate conspiracy existed to prevent us from considering it.

When the two corollary powers, executive and legislative, are divided between opposing parties, the machine of government stalls. This has happened again and again and again. Yet we register a kind of puzzled and hurt surprise that all is not in harmony and progress on the Potomac.

In the landslide of last November, the Republicans won majorities in both houses of Congress. If the presidency had been at issue, a Republican would be in the White House today.

Mr. Truman is doing the very best he can. But under the division of powers, he is threatened with defeat on almost every issue. And his defeat, since the end is inaction and delay at a time when sure, swift decisions are absolutely imperative.

Opposition Wholly Political
The controversy over the confirmation of David Lillenthal is only one example of what the division means. It happens for a variety of reasons, to be a conspicuous example. No one has raised any serious question about Lillenthal's ability or his efficiency. Ignoring the savage personal animus of aged Senator Kenneth McKellar, you cannot escape the conclusion that the opposition to Lillenthal is almost wholly political.

It is intended to embarrass the President at the same time it is embarrassing the whole nation. And as the atomic scientists have made abundantly clear, the whole atomic-energy project is rapidly deteriorating for want of leadership and direction.

With a Republican in the White House — either Gov. Thomas E. Dewey or Senator Robert A. Taft, to name two obvious possibilities — Lillenthal would never have been appointed chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. A Republican president would have appointed a man acceptable to the Republican majorities and, after a routine inquiry, the nominee would have been confirmed.

Not Wickedness of Party
This is not a matter of the wickedness of one party or the other. The situation was reversed in 1931 and 32. Then, Herbert Hoover was chief executive and the Democrats had captured control of the House. That, too, was a time for swift and sure decisions. The Democrats, however, were out to make political capital at Hoover's expense. They used the tactics of a matador with a bull.

Hoover never developed a comprehensive program for checking the heading depression. He clung to the belief that it must somehow cure itself with as little government intervention as possible. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to shore up the banks and the railroads, was about the extent of Hoover's willingness to resort to government intervention.

It is as obvious that if he had had the most perfect program in the world, handed down from heaven on tablets of gold, the Democratic House would have ridiculed it or thrown it out entirely. They didn't want the Republican president to succeed. Because they wanted to come to power after a long, lean period out of office, they set out to destroy Hoover and they very nearly succeeded.

And the Locusts Consumed
Those were two years the locusts consumed. Industry slowly ground to a standstill. The toll of suffering, fear, insecurity, was incalculable. Finally it was too late for the moderate measures that might have checked the decline toward disaster.

Americans today have a clearer understanding of the importance of the decisions taken by government. They are likely to be less patient with the tactics of obstructionism. If the Republicans persist in those tactics, they can throw away the victory that seemed so surely in their grasp last November. While it seemed inconceivable on November 6, it is not impossible for Mr. Truman to be re-elected.

But that will be no solution for the stalemates that have occurred, on the average, in one out of every three years. There can be no solution so long as most of us seem to prefer to ignore the source of the trouble. It lies in the rigidity of our system of fixed elections, and the irony is that the only measure with a chance of passage at this session of Congress would make it more rigid—limiting the presidency to two terms.

The government machine needs a thorough overhauling to bring it up to date with the power age. Meanwhile, the men in the engineer's cab who are contending for authority get the blame.

EARS

Ears are very important parts of the body. They are rather complicated. The outside parts are important.

The ears are often damaged by colds, a child has a cold and in a few days has a running ear.

This condition should not be neglected. Deafness may result. When a child shows signs of deafness he should have special care.

Much can be done for a deaf child especially if the deafness is slight. A child who is partially deaf will get so that he will not try to hear.

A child with a partially blind eye will not try to use the bad eye.

Prompt treatment may avoid a lot of trouble later on.

The Supreme court passed over John Lewis again but handed down a decision on bowling alleys. . . This is the first time justice has been more concerned with spars than with strikes.

We don't know yet what's going to happen to John but it has been determined that the government can ship a bowling alley by rail at military rates. . . without pinboys.

This far-reaching decision will enable the government to concentrate on shipping bowling alleys instead of Lewis.

Now the court is in recess again. . . possibly figuring the status of pin ball machines when shipped by air.

Anyway March brings the anniversary of the telephone. . . April brings the telephone strike.

It is interesting to know that there are now 57 million telephones in the United States and most of them will go dead in about five more weeks.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Far be it from me to compare what little knowledge I may have of human nature with the great wisdom of a judge. (And furthermore I don't want to be cited for contempt of court.)

But I certainly disagree most thoroughly with Superior Judge Baird, of Los Angeles, who recently granted a divorce to 18-year-old actress Diana Reed from her 23-year-old film-cutter husband, Donald Mahin.

Her plea was that her husband "started getting mean."

The judge asked:

"How long did you know him before you were married?"

"Two months."

"Well, you got just exactly what you asked for," said the judge.

What is wrong with knowing each other two months before you get married?

I know my wife very much less than that—and our marriage has lasted more than twenty-five years. I know many married couples who met, fell in love, married—and stayed in love.

I know others who knew each other for years and their marriages ended in divorce.

I don't know anything about young Donald Mahin and his alleged meanness.

But I can tell you this much: A fellow, no matter how long he goes with a girl, never shows his true nature until after the marriage.

Courtship is salesmanship. A salesman always shows his best samples and gives his prospect a wonderful sales talk.

You don't discover the defects of the merchandise until after you have bought it.

Maybe this sounds sordid. But life

Words And Deeds Not Same For Russians

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5. MEN best equipped to judge agree that one of the greatest deterrents to co-operation with Russia is that the Russians do not seem to feel the normal obligation to make their words square with their deeds. They say one thing and do the other. And they do this without excuse, defense or explanation. Perhaps it has a little to do with language. But mostly it appears a question of standards—or the lack of them.

A REVEALING light is thrown on this characteristic Russian habit by an interesting letter recently received by the State department from our Ambassador in Moscow, Gen. W. Bendell Smith, which appears altogether to have escaped public attention. The letter is dated February 3 and is by way of reply to the recently published interview which Marshall Stalin gave Elliott Roosevelt, in which Stalin "indicated emphatically that he favors the exchange of cultural and scientific information between our two nations and also exchange of students, artists, scientists and professors."

AMBASSADOR Bendell Smith wrote the department that this is gratifying to me because in the past two years he had transmitted to the Soviet government on behalf of organizations and institutions in the United States a considerable number of proposals to do exactly what Marshall Stalin declares he favors, without being able to get any favorable action from the Soviet government whatsoever. The ambassador then proceeds to list nine of the most important of these, as follows:

"ONE. Last August, during the visit of representatives of Russian war relief, Dr. E. D. Young proposed to provide the Soviet government with a complete penicillin plant and at the same time proposed a two-way exchange of scientists between United States and Soviet Union, particularly in medical field. Dr. Young discussed this matter with Ministry of Health of Soviet Union, but so far no reply has been received to his proposal.

"TWO. In July, 1946, during visit of Mr. Hopes and Dr. Lorwin, of United States Department of Commerce, they discussed with Ministry of Higher Education the offer of Cornell University to accept four graduate students from Soviet Union to do postgraduate work in United States and to give some instruction in Russian language. No reciprocal exchange of American students was insisted upon, and I made this very clear to Ministry of Higher Education.

At the time I received the impression that the Ministry was willing to accept this proposal, but we have so far been unable to make any definite arrangements with the Ministry and had to abandon the project in November, since it was already too late for fall semester. I have now received a letter from Deputy Minister of Higher Education, A. Samarin, dated January 29, in which he states that his Ministry regards favorably the proposal of the Embassy, but it is apparently very difficult to realize this proposal in current school year 1946-47. I am hopeful, nevertheless, that this offer may be reconsidered and accepted in time for the spring semester.

"THREE. Prof. Richard Foster Flint, of Yale University, is anxious to do some field work with Soviet geologists and to confer with them on the pleistocene features of the U. S. S. R. Dr. Flint's request and biographical sketch were forwarded to President of Academy of Sciences on December 16, 1946, and as he is a distinguished American geologist, I would be grateful if his request could be approved.

"FOUR. In Summer of 1946 while Mrs. Lafail Dickinson, president of General Federation of Women's Clubs, was here at invitation of Soviet Union to observe rehabilitation work and study Soviet welfare programs, she offered in name of her Federation a scholarship in United States to a Soviet girl student. My understanding is that additional scholarships could be made available. Mrs. Dickinson has since been informed that her offer cannot be accepted, but I suggest that it now be reconsidered since it seems to be in accord with the general principle of broadening educational and cultural contacts.

THE other five proposals submitted by Ambassador Bendell Smith for the promotion of cultural and scientific exchange relations between Russia and ourselves, which Marshall Stalin declares he so strongly favors but which were either ignored or disapproved by his government, will be presented in a subsequent column. They still further emphasize the strange contrast between what the Soviet Government says and what it does.

State Police Say:

Tire chains cannot replace caution on icy roads covered with highways. While chains provide a definite margin of safety, the car operator must select a very prudent rate of speed under such circumstances, especially when approaching curves or intersections. On glare ice your chains may act as "runners" if the brakes are suddenly and forcibly applied.

"GRATEFUL" ITALIANS

There is no way of knowing how truly the actions of twenty-five thousand Italian rioters in Rome represent the sentiments of the mass of Italian people; but it is obvious that the shredding of the United States flag by the mob was not officially sanctioned by the Italian government. It has been apparent for some time, however, that a large share of the population cherish bitter resentment of the country and that recollections of our past generosity have practically disappeared.

Sources of this resentment are two-fold. Our share in devising the treaty which deprives Italy of Trieste and other former Italian territory, and which leaves the nation substantially without foreign empire, is the chief irritant. Along with this factor is what the Italians regard as our failure to provide abundantly enough for them in the matter of relief and financial aid for rehabilitation of industries destroyed by the war.

The big fact that the Italians seem to overlook is that they are losers in a war of their own choosing. Mussolini's decision to join Hitler represented one of the craziest examples of expediency and greed offered by history. As President Roosevelt well stated the case, he "stabbed France in the back" at the moment of her greatest distress. Actually, by the same gold-digging tactics he turned his armies loose on little Albania and on Greece; although the Greek warriors made his armies ridiculous, he succeeded with Nazi help, in inflicting incalculable misery and loss on Greece. When his Navy was proved a joke and it was demonstrated that he was being "double-crossed" by Hitler, Mussolini began to lose prestige with his own people. But it was not until the crushing of the Nazi armies in North Africa and the invasion of Sicily that the Italian masses showed any contrition and began playing for Allied favor.

No fairly-minded person can doubt that in the event of an Axis victory the Italian government, whether represented by Mussolini or someone else, would have expected the pound of flesh from Greece, Yugoslavia, France and Albania, and would have also insisted on astronomical reparations from the United States and Great Britain. Italians are only repaying what Mussolini, with their approval, has sown. Scavenging will not change the facts of history.

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

Rightly or wrongly, the stage was being set for a possible handover of the United States of various British commitments throughout the world that Great Britain has decided to relinquish.

Thus by no fault of its own and traditional aversion to European and Far Eastern involvements, this nation seems destined to enter upon a fresh aspect of its career—guardian of the entire world.

But the implications of Britain's apparently systematic plan to relinquish many commitments in her widespread sphere of imperial influence immediately raised a businesslike economic question.

Who will pay the costs if the British pull out from Greece, Palestine, Egypt and India?

And if this development occurs, then it will be presented to the American people a very sizeable United States taxpayer to wonder, as Britons long have wondered, whether imperialism is worth the cost involved.

Here is a brief glance at the British Labor government's profit and loss statement for 1946-47:

For defense of the United Kingdom and colonies: 680 million dollars.

For colonial subsidies alone: 680 million dollars.

As against the easily-spoken theory that one of the greatest and

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD'S SLEEPING HABITS

While but few young mothers will admit it, an amazing number of babies and little children sleep with the mother. No doubt there has been an increase in this practice in recent years, thanks to a housing shortage. Then a good many young mothers, while their hand was in the armed forces encouraged the practice because of the mother's loneliness and the after difficulties while traveling alone with relatives, and fall to train the child in desirability. Even after the "war" families have settled in their own homes, the sleeping-with-mother habit remains.

Assumably among the educated, unwell-to-do mothers there has been an increase in baby's sleeping with mother or of her rocking him to sleep, thanks to the teaching of a chain group of child specialists in recent years. Some of these specialists have told mothers not to let a youngster cry for want of company or cuddling and never let him "cry it out."

Feeding Any Time
In consequence, an occasional well-educated mother may, with good conscience, feed the baby at bedtime, or in the middle of the night, or when he is crying at night, or drag him into d with her. It's such welcome advice it offers an easy way to gain satisfaction here and now and escape immediate difficulties. But what's overlooked is the problem of growing bigger and bigger. Son experts are wholly over-looked the habit factor in the child.

Fact-Finding Body May Study Palestine Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Mar. 5. — (INS) — The British government Tuesday approved the formation of a fact-finding committee of the United Nations to study and draft a report on the Palestine dispute to the General Assembly.

In its instructions to Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief United Kingdom representative at Lake Success, the British government stressed the urgency of the Holy Land issue. It proposed that the fact-finding committee be small in its membership for the sake of speed and practicality.

To Give Hearings

It is understood that the British government would favor as members the Big Five and a few "neutral-minded" lands. The committee would be expected to give hearings to representatives of both the Jews and the Arabs.

The exact nature and procedure of the committee, according to London indication, would be left to Secretary-General Trygve Lie of the United Nations.

A spokesman for Secretary-General Lie disclosed that if one of the Big Five should object to the committee as proposed, he will drop the plan and leave it up to the British government to advance their own official suggestion.

In the opinion of Lie, the committee would be free to undertake its study of the Palestine problem in New York or proceed to London and the Holy Land to make investigations on the spot.

He assumed that all sides would get adequate hearings.

If powerful lightning strokes which shatter trees and buildings could be harnessed and sold commercially as electricity, they would be worth less than 50 cents a dozen.

EXTENSION GIVEN FOR APPEAL BY BOSTON MAYOR

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—The supreme court disclosed today that Mayor James M. Curley of Boston has been given until April 4 to take before the high tribunal his appeal from a war fraud conviction.

The court granted a one-month extension order sought by Curley's attorneys.

Curley's petition for a rehearing before the United States court of appeals, which previously had upheld the conviction, was denied on February 4. Thus, under court procedure, the time in which a writ of certiorari could be filed would have expired Tuesday unless the extension had been granted.

Ask Parliament To Approve Move To Leave India

LONDON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—A formal government resolution asking parliamentary approval of Great Britain's decision to withdraw from India by June, 1948, at the latest was introduced in the House of Commons today.

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, submitted the resolution after another government spokesman had told the house that Britain will pull out of Greece also even at the cost of losing United States financial aid.

Cripps said that the alternative to withdrawing from India in 1948 would mean remaining for at least 15 or 20 years, strengthening British control and considerably reinforcing the British army.

Asking approval of the withdrawal, Cripps said: "His majesty's government has no hesitation about putting this (alternative) aside as both undesirable and impracticable."

Evening Of Song To Draw Consistory Members In Friday

Miss Julia Johns, Local Mezzo Soprano, Will Be One Of Featured Soloists

Valley of New Castle Consistory members are looking forward to Friday evening with great expectancy, when the Cathedral Male Chorus will present "An evening of song," assisted by a group of talented vocal artists.

One of the features of the program will be the presentation of a group of numbers by Miss Julia Johns, local mezzo soprano who is becoming famous in musical circles in the nation. Others who will assist will be Miss Ruth Cotton, lyric soprano; and Johnny Kirby, tenor. Johnny Kirby, well known radio artist will be master of ceremonies, with Joseph Shaffer as accompanist for the visiting artists.

The Cathedral Chorus is directed by Sam Lewis, and Ernest E. Branstetter, is the accompanist.

This program as those during the past year, will be for members and their immediate families only, and the doors will be tied, Commander in Chief, Ill. Welly O. Rugh announces.

ANTI-FREEZE IGNITES

Seventh ward firemen were called to the property of the B. and O. railroad on East Cherry street, where a bulldozer was at work, leveling some ground early Tuesday afternoon. Anti-freeze in the bulldozer ignited. The damage was small.

Brother Hurt In Conneautville Fire

John L. Oberleitner, city fireman, received word yesterday that his brother, J. C. Oberleitner, operator of a beauty parlor at Conneautville, Pa., had suffered leg injuries in a fire which destroyed the old opera house at Conneautville and damaged other buildings. The blaze caused damage of $80,000.

Mr. Oberleitner was injured when an oil stove exploded in the M. B.

Thompson hardware store, adjoining his place of business, blowing him into the street. He lived in an apartment in the rear of his place of business, and discovered the blaze.

President Of Tech Plans English Trip

Humble Junk Man Is Doing Comeback

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—The humble junk man, whose horse and wagon and chaff and bells became wartime casualties, has been nominated as a key figure in the nation's reconversion plans.

The institute of scrap iron and steel estimated that more than two million long tons of iron scrap are being bought from him by mills and foundries to be made over into automobiles, washing machines, freight cars, refrigerators and other postwar shortage items.

Back In Business

Edwin Barringer, executive secretary of the institute, explained:

"The scrap iron collector—the man with a one-horse wagon or light truck who gathers waste material of all kinds—has been put back into business by the unprecedented requirements of steel mills and iron foundries for scrap."

"This small entrepreneur, who annually collects several million tons of scrap iron, was put out of business early in the war by low OPA ceilings, gasoline and tire rationing, and the lure of higher wages in war plants."

"Although salvage drives, made necessary by the disappearance of the collector, brought out some of the material he would normally have gathered, considerable scrap has been accumulating on farms, city residences and dumps."

Paying High Prices

"Some scrap dealers who have not been weighing in more than half a dozen collectors' wagons or trucks a day now report lines a block long."

The institute said that foundries and mills are paying high prices for scrap iron. It noted that the two million long tons a month of dealer scrap which the foundries are now consuming is within five per cent of the peak melt of the war period.

The organization commented that automobile graveyards are now finding it more profitable to convert old jalopies into scrap than to sell the parts.

Further, the institute said that farmers and farm implement dealers have helped to make available part of "at least two million tons of scrap iron" on farms.

Indicates Wallace Will Be Called To Give Testimony

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Rep. Thomas (R) N.J., indicated that Henry A. Wallace will be called before the House Un-American Activities Committee to testify in connection with what he charged was "an elaborate scheme of legal espionage" in the United States by the Soviet government.

The committee chairman disclosed that he will urge his group to call the former vice president for an explanation of why he permitted the sale of thousands of patents to Russian agencies while he was secretary of commerce. He said the patents were sold for 25 cents each.

Thomas accused the Russians in a House speech of obtaining from the United States government "hundreds of thousands" of patents which dealt with "every phase of our technological development."

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Dr. Wells Speaks Against Sin In Stirring Address

City-Wide Revival Services Continue To Attract Capacity Audiences

In one of his most thought-provoking addresses he has yet delivered in New Castle, Dr. Robert J. Wells, evangelist of Wheaton, Ill., pointed out to the audience in the First Methodist church, North Jefferson street, Tuesday evening that the two biggest sinners in New Castle are the man or woman who has broken all the laws of God and man and the morally good man who has never accepted Christ as a personal Saviour from sin.

The auditorium of the Methodist church was taxed to capacity with the overflow crowd accommodated in the adjoining Sunday school room. Directing the evening song fest once more was Forrest Schickel-danz of Peoria, Ill., who is also tenor soloist and choir director for the city-wide revival campaign.

During the special instrumental and vocal program presented by the Smitty girls and Mrs. V. E. Smith, Mr. Schickel-danz and Miss Louise Smith favored the audience with a vocal duet.

At the conclusion of the outstanding address, Dr. Wells appealed to his listeners to find a remedy for the sin in their life by turning to Christ the sin bearer. Many responded to the appeal finding their way into the inquiry room.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the subject chosen by Dr. Wells is entitled "God Doesn't Want You To Go To Hell". Special delegations who will be present during the service will be the Baptists of the city, men's Bible classes and a group from the Madison Avenue Christian church in Mahoningtown. The Smitty girls and the large chorus choir will be heard in a special musical program.

The revival campaign will continue every night this week in the church, with the closing services scheduled for Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Accepts Call To U. P. Church At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 5.—Rev. Robert P. McDonald, pastor of the St. Clairsville United Presbyterian church, has accepted the call to become pastor of the United Presbyterian church. He will assume his duties about April 15.

Word of Rev. McDonald's acceptance was received Tuesday by Howard C. Temple, chairman of the pulpit committee.

Rev. McDonald has been at St. Clairsville for the past seven years. He is a graduate of Muskingum College and Xenia Seminary. His father, Dr. James McDonald, was graduated from Westminster and was formerly pastor of the U. P. church at Ellwood City. His mother was at one time a member of the Westminster College faculty.

Rev. McDonald succeeds Dr. Ralph Neale who is now in Florida.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduce the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Public Opinion Molders Face Startling Changes

NEW YORK, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Would-be molders of public opinion were cautioned by the national industrial conference board to change the "mold" to fit the "batter".

Advertisement and editorial writers, for instance, were reminded by the conference board that when they talk about postwar problems, 78 per cent of their readers (111 million Americans) are experiencing those problems for the first time.

The 78 per cent either were not born or were under 21 when the World War I armistice was signed. The board said it was useless to talk about "the depression" to 63 per cent of the public, because 90 million Americans had no adult experience with the 1929 debacle.

Then, of course, there's that 58 per cent (83 million) that look vague when you speak of a "Republican administration". They weren't voting prior to March 4, 1933.

Talk of a "peacetime economy" is over the heads of 48 per cent—69 million—because their recollections of the "peaceful" thirties either don't exist or made little impression.

Forty-four per cent have had no adult experience with a "free market", and know only of the OPA.

Other Pertinent Facts
The conference board lumps together some other pertinent facts for opinion makers:

1. In the near future, one of every four eligible voters will be a veteran.

2. Of 29 million workers (in 1945), 48 per cent already were covered by collective bargaining agreements.

3. Seventeen million women are now employed in industry, 25 per cent of total employment.

4. Of 96 senators now in congress, only 12 are pre-New Deal, and eight of the 12 are from the "solid" south.

5. An eighth grade education was "average" for 78 million Americans who were 25 years old or over in 1940. Less than five per cent had four years of college, and only 14 per cent finished high school. Three million had no formal schooling.

6. Forty-three per cent of the public, 57 million people, still live in rural areas.

The conference board also reported that of 20,000 youngsters tested in New York, their favorite reading was comic books.

The board said:
"The trend among today's children is apparently toward magazines and radio rather than books."

In the New York group, boys and girls between 8 and 14 have never read about Horatio Alger.

Flood Threat To Pittsburgh Now Foreseen

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 5.—(INS)—The hills and gullies north and south of Pittsburgh held a flood threat today that could be as serious as that of 11 years ago.

Snow lay deep over frozen ground in the watersheds of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, which flank Pittsburgh before uniting to form the Ohio river.

Warmer weather was forecast to break two weeks of almost continual sub-freezing weather.

The conditions were similar to St. Patrick's Day 1936 when, almost without warning, millions of tons of water gushed down gullies and ravines emptying into the two streams and their tributaries. The waters poured over Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle, cascaded into basements, climbed to the second floors of business establishments and homes.

Will Redecorate Memorial Chapel At Westminster

NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 5.—The annual subscription fund board of Westminster college has voted the sum of $3,500 to rededicate Wallace Memorial chapel, according to announcement by Robert Maxwell, alumni secretary.

Bids are to be asked for the work started as soon as possible.

Members of the fund board are Atty. Clyde A. Armstrong, Dr. H. H. Donaldson, Atty. John L. Miller and Miss Laura B. Turper, all of Pittsburgh, and Ross Ellis, business manager of the college.

Pass Zoning Law At New Wilmington

NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 5.—Borough council, meeting in regular session last night, passed a zoning law which has been hanging fire for several months. A petition signed by 75 advocating passage of the law was presented.

Complete details regarding enforcement are yet to be worked out. A public hearing will be held in the near future at which time property owners will have a chance to voice objections.

A three-man commission will then be named by council to administer the law.

ALL-WEATHER VISIBILITY
WILLOW RUN, Mich.—(INS)—All-around visibility in extreme cold weather driving is a problem which is being tackled successfully in the automotive industry. Kaiser-Frazer engineers recently conducted a test at Lake Bemidji, Minn., in which four shirt-sleeved occupants exhaled cigar smoke simultaneously as their car moved along in temperature 23 below zero. The test showed that under adverse conditions the windshield free of frost through the circulation of fresh air from the car's wind tunnel, instead of recirculating moisture and smoke-laden air inside the car.

Churchill's Plea Saves Five Africans From Execution

LONDON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Five African Gold Coast aborigines won a stay of execution as the result of an eloquent appeal by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Memories of the golden age of Britain's empire were stirred in parliament Monday when Churchill led a heated 45-minute debate in defense of the natives, convicted of a primitive ceremonial murder.

The five had killed a tribal sub-chief in 1944 at an orgiastic funeral for Sir Ofori Atta—a high tribal chief who had been knighted by King George V—the departed leader would have someone of fitting nobility to accompany him into the afterworld.

They were to have been hanged Monday. But Churchill's appeal led Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones to cable the Gold Coast, ordering a stay of execution.

Final decision of the natives' fate is in the hands of Sir Alan Burns, governor of the Gold Coast colony.

FATHER-SONS AT KIWANIS DINNER IN COLLEGE TOWN

NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 5.—About 75 attended the annual father-son dinner held by the Kiwanis club Monday evening in the parlors of the Methodist church.

Following the dinner, movies were shown by three officers from the U. S. navy recruiting office at New Castle.

A special feature was a vocal solo by Charles Seger, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Evans. William Byers was in charge of the program.

The famous
SCOTT
RADIO • PHONOGRAPH

★ To provide the ultimate in tonal perfection and smoothness of performance, TWENTY-FOUR of the latest-type tubes are included in the new Scott.

★ The new Scott 800-B incorporates a highly developed, built-in phono-graph that is the result of years of experimentation and research.

★ A high quality amplifier must have adequate power output in order to insure perfect reproduction. The cost of incorporating large handling capacity is high . . . but as the Scott is designed to bring living performance to your home, a power output is provided ranging from 20 to 40 watts.

★ Instrument panel may be operated either by automatic pressure contact switches or manually, by seven control knobs. Bass and treble controls are simplified to adjust easily from maximum to minimum settings.

★ Sensitivity—more power when needed for distant reception, less when not required. Interstation interference and short wave noise minimized. Variable sensitivity control for stations close together, or for long distance where utmost selectivity and sensitivity are necessary.

★ Broadcast band, AM, 540 to 1600 kilocycles. Short wave, 5.3 to 18.2 megacycles. Frequency modulation, 88 to 108 megacycles. Also provision for attachment of a television receiver when available.

The superlative Scott is desired and admired by those who want the finest . . . who seek flawless reproduction of recorded music and American radio broadcasts . . . and by the radio fans who want to pull in transoceanic broadcasts quickly and clearly. It is particularly sought in localities where radio reception is difficult and where listeners must reach far afield. It is, in effect, two instruments . . . a specially designed audio amplifier and speaker system, and a powerful superheterodyne. All enclosed in furniture cabinets of utmost beauty, to complement the most distinguished settings. 1947 Scott 800-B.

King George Helps Westminster Junior To Locate 'Pen-Pal'

NEW WILMINGTON, March 5.—Wallace Abel of Uniontown, a junior at Westminster college, has regained contact with a boyhood "pen pal" in England through the intervention of King George VI. It was in 1939 that Abel, then 14 years of age, obtained the name of Kenneth Kirby of Stretford, near Manchester, England, from a "Pen Pal" section of a comic book. The boys corresponded until both entered the armed services of their countries.

Several months ago, Abel decided to attempt to again contact Kirby. A letter to his former address was returned unopened and a letter to the British Admiralty at Bath was also returned.

Knowing no one else in England by name, Abel wrote directly to King George, asking for his aid in finding his friend. After several weeks, Abel received word from an officer of the British navy that his letter to the king had been turned over to him to answer.

The letter gave Kirby's serial number and Abel's next letter got through to his friend, who only recently was discharged from the navy. Kirby's answer expressed his great pleasure in again being able to correspond with Abel. Treatment of discharged veterans by their respective governments has been the principal subject of interest in their renewed exchanged of letters.

U. S. Food Diverted To Relieve Famine In Romania Now

LONDON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Press reports received in London today said seven thousand tons of United States food diverted to relieve Romania's famine were being unloaded on the docks of Constantia.

The operation was said to be under the supervision of American Red Cross teams from Bucharest.

The emergency shipment arrived aboard the seven-thousand-ton American Liberty ship Andrew Stevenson.

The first relief train was reported preparing to leave with the food today from Moldavia province, where 500 thousand persons are said to be starving.

Italy To Seek Early Revision Of Peace Treaty

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME Mar. 5.—Italy's divergent political parties are mobilized today on a solid front in a worldwide campaign for early revision of the Italian peace treaty.

The Big Four conference, starting Monday in Moscow, is said to be their first objective.

Master strategist of the drive is Count Carlo Sforza, into whose hands Premier Alcide De Gasperi placed the nation's "despairing" foreign policy in the third postwar cabinet.

To show "complete identity of views," De Gasperi has had his own Christian Democratic party assume the "spiritual leadership" of the Italian "drive for revision."

Strong Appeals

Christian Democratic leaders already have addressed pleas to parties of similar coloring in other nations, asking revision of the Italian treaty to permit the nation's "resurrection and contribution to world peace and culture."

Particularly strong appeals have been sent to France's popular Republican party, whose leader, Georges Bidault, will participate in the Moscow conference.

In a parallel maneuver, Count Sforza has had Italy's labor confederation appeal to labor organizations of other nations—notably in Russia, America, Britain and France—warning that Italian workmen "can not bear the economic burden" placed on them by the treaty.

Open support to the campaign is being given both by the Socialist and Communist parties. Pietro Nenni, leftist Socialist leader, is forcing agitation both through the party's press and by "indirect diplomacy."

One of the great disillusionments of postwar Italy has been the provision in the treaty barring the nation from claims against Germany. This is the first great barrier the Italians will seek to cover through the Moscow conference.

And they pursue their goal with the conviction of a people who regard Germany as the fashioner of Italy's darkest disaster.

Noted Groundhog At Philadelphia Zoo Dies Tuesday

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Susie, the most-photographed creature in the Philadelphia zoo, is dead.

Susie was the groundhog who became the darling of press and newsreel photographers every February 2 when she obligingly predicted the weather for the next six weeks.

Curator Roger Conant attributed her death to old age and kidney trouble.

She was once the guest star of a nation-wide radio hook-up, and made news when she refused to pose with a pretty airlines hostess en route to New York for the broadcast. Susie, huffed at sharing the limelight, "took a walk" and delayed the plane's departure 20 minutes, much to the loudly-voiced displeasure of a congressman-passenger.

Consider Law To Permit State Seizing Utilities

Measure Would Give State Authority To Seize Strike Threatened Utilities

HARRISBURG, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Legislation permitting state seizure of strike threatened utilities today was before the Senate Labor Committee.

Sponsored by Sen. A. Evans Keppert (R) Philadelphia, the measure outlined negotiations procedure designed to forestall work stoppages, provided for state operation when negotiations break down and fixed stiff penalties for violations.

The bill alleged "uninterrupted" operation of public utilities was "essential to the welfare, health and safety" of the citizenry.

Demands for changes in wages and other contract provisions would have to be submitted at least 60 days before expiration of the existing agreement and copies issued to the governor and State Labor Relations Board. Negotiations would be started within the 60-day period under the proposal.

Method Provided

If initial conferences ended in stalemates, second meetings would have to be called within 10 days at which representatives of the governor and board could attempt mediation.

Should efforts prove fruitless, the chief executive would be empowered to ask management and labor to arbitrate. Following strikes or lockouts would prompt state seizure of threatened utilities. Notices of work stoppages would have to be issued five weeks ahead of the effective date.

Utility workers would be given the option of working under the state. Union discipline of those continuing their jobs would be outlawed. Picketing of the seized plants would be illegal.

Penalties for persons guilty of violating provisions would range from $100 to $1000 fines or three to 12 months imprisonment while unions or utilities causing work stoppages would be subject to $10,000 fines for each day of suspended operations.

Legal Espionage In United States Charged To Soviet

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee charged Tuesday that the Soviet government is engaging in "an elaborate scheme of legal espionage" in the United States.

Thomas accused the Russians in a speech prepared for House delivery of obtaining from the United States Government "hundreds of thousands" of patents which dealt with "every phase of our technological development."

He expressed the view that "this sudden and frantic effort of Russia to secure within the past few years all of our industrial techniques and processes" bore a connection with efforts to obtain the secrets of the atomic bomb.

Return-To-Earth Mechanism Is Being Developed

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—(INS)—The Franklin Institute today revealed details of its newly-developed "return-to-earth" mechanism for use in high-speed, high-altitude guided missiles.

The mechanism employs parachutes to recapture instruments and materials contained in the "war-head" of such missiles. It has been successfully tested on V-2 projectiles travelling at 3400 miles an hour, a spokesman said.

The war-head's contents are ejected by a remote control radio detonation of a mortar charge, and lowered to the ground by parachute. The spokesman said it was believed loads of up to a ton can be recaptured by the device.

Operation May Aid Paralyzed 11-Year-Old Girl

BOSTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—A paralyzed eleven-year-old Waynesville, N. C. girl was under observation today at City hospital after being flown to Boston from her home.

Dr. Donald Munro headed a group of prominent specialists seeking to diagnose the strange paralysis of Barbara Davenport.

Barbara was injured two years ago when she fell while playing on railroad tracks. The paralysis has grown worse steadily.

She was accompanied on the flight to Boston by her father, Charles G. Davenport.

Physicians said an operation would be attempted if it is believed Barbara can be made well again.

Gives Five Musts To Relieve Housing Shortage In Nation

CHICAGO, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Five "Musts" necessary to relieve the housing shortage were listed in Chicago by Louis E. Starr, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Addressing the National Association of Home Builders, Starr named his "Musts" as:

1. Direction and channeling of building materials and labor into the housing field.
2. Curtailment of non-housing construction to the fullest possible extent, with reasonable industrial and commercial expansion.
3. Elimination of legislation, regulations and restrictions which now discourage erection of multiple units.
4. Provision of long-term, low-interest rate money for financing to encourage investors in rental units.
5. Congressional approval of the veterans employment and national economic development act of 1947. The VFW leader said the congressional measure, popularly known as the "Veterans RF," would be a stimulus to the housing situation.

The Mulligan Letters, written between James G. Blaine and Warren Fisher, from 1864 to 1872, on railroad matters, are said to have greatly harmed the candidacy of Blaine for the presidency in 1884.

Report Is Made By Grand Jury

True Bills Are Returned In
All But Two Cases
Considered

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

True bills were found in all cases but two, considered by the Lawrence County grand jury which met on Monday, March 3. The jury foreman was Adda Hilliard, thought to be the first woman to be named to the post, and apparently she wanted to get the job done in good time. The jury concluded its work on Monday.

Not a true bill was returned in the case of larceny charged against Ralph Martin and in a morals charge against James Brown.

True bills were found in the following cases: Ralph Wilbur, Yohe morals charge; Lester D. Goff, practicing chiropody without a license; Antonio Cappolina, aggravated assault and battery; Earl Ettinger, four counts of moral offenses; Mike Norco, assault and battery; Emmanuel Braddock, burglary; Frank Largo, receiving and having a stolen revolver; David F. Bullano and John D. Brophy, attempt to commit burglary and Wilson Pentoney alias "Butch Petzinger", a morals charge.

The jury found the court house properties to be in good shape, and recommended the modernizing of the kitchen in the jail, redecorating the court rooms and installing fluorescent lights.

The jury apparently did not know that the latter recommendation has already been given consideration. Plans are under way to remodel the court rooms and to redecorate them.

Rent Control Plan Proposed In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Mar. 5.—(INS)—

Regulation of rentals to prevent landlords from gouging tenants in the absence of a federal control was proposed Tuesday in the House of Representatives.

The measure, sponsored by Reps. Morris Root and Louis Sax, Philadelphia Republicans, would establish a one-man rent czar and would authorize rent control areas if needed. A million dollar appropriation for expenses was proposed.

Tenants overcharged by unscrupulous landlords would be allowed to claim treble damages in common pleas courts, under the Sax-Root Bill.

Violators would be liable to $5000 fines or two years imprisonment.

The measure was designed to "forestall profiteering, speculation and other disruptive practices tending to produce threats to the public health."

Some German Scientists In U.S. Accuse Others Here Of Being Nazis

By FRANCES MUSIC
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—An official of the Federation of Atomic Scientists said today that some German scientists in this country are accusing others of being Nazis.

Dr. William Higinbotham, the federation's executive secretary, gave two examples of this disunity among the German technicians working in the United States under Army sponsorship.

Higinbotham, in citing the cases, declared:

"We cannot rely on any screening measures to assure us that these people, if retained in this country, will not constitute a dangerous fifth column."

Branded Nazi

Higinbotham related that one German scientist was recommended by the Army for work in the Cornell university science department and was rejected when his foreign colleagues employed there branded him a Nazi sympathizer and refused to work with him.

The federation official said that another German scientist was put to work at Wright Field, Dayton, O., and that he objected to working there under a scientist he contended had been a member of the SS during the war.

Higinbotham said that the scientist asking to be transferred had spent three years in a Nazi concentration camp during World War II.

Higinbotham asserted that the Army plans to station in one of its most secret radar laboratories a German scientist who occupied a key position in the Third Reich during the war.

He vigorously protested this action. He charged that so long as a German technician was not wanted as an active war criminal "the Army okay's him."

The number of German scientists working in America is being brought up from 270 to about 1,000.

Newsprint Shortage Under Congress Probe

Senate Investigators Looking Into Condition That Makes Canada Chief Source Of Supply

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Sen. Capehart (R) Ind., declared today he planned to find out why the United States has lost its position as the world's largest newsprint supplier.

Capehart is chairman of a senate small business subcommittee which is investigating the causes of the newsprint shortage and its effect on small independent newspapers.

The Indiana senator said he was "astounded" to discover that newsprint production had moved from the United States to Canada so that the latter was now supplying 80 per cent of American requirements.

He asserted:

"It is certainly an unhealthy situation when a country that boasts of its free press must depend on foreign countries for 80 per cent of its newsprint."

Capehart noted that yesterday's testimony had indicated that newsprint jobs might be violating the Robinson-Patman act which provided that businesses must be charged equal prices for like quantities of goods sold to like competitors.

He said the committee would call the jobs to explain their pricing practices and turn the problem over to the justice department if it appeared the law was being violated.

Commend Youths For Heroism At Rail Wreck Scene

Charles Preisel, Two Valley Sailors Cited For Aid Rendered Wreck Victims

Charles L. Preisel of New Castle, Albert J. Meteney of Beaver Falls and James E. Hartley of Monaca, all seamen second class of the U. S. navy, today were commended for their heroic work at the scene of the Feb. 18 wreck of the Pennsylvania railroad's "Red Arrow" flyer near Altoona.

The district youths received a special commendation from Commodore William W. Behrens, commanding officer of the Bainbridge, Md., naval training center, and were praised by officials of the railroad for their courage and fortitude in assisting fellow-passengers when the disaster occurred.

Commendation Text

The text of the commendation reads as follows:

"The assistance which you rendered to fellow passengers at the scene of the Pennsylvania's 'Red Arrow' train near Altoona, Pa. on 18 February has been brought to my attention. The center commander commends you for your conduct on this occasion in aiding in the removal of passengers from the wrecked cars, giving first-aid to the injured and otherwise assisting officials at the scene of the wreck. Your actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the U. S. navy and reflect credit upon yourself and the naval service."

Farmers To Hear Of Labor Saving

Labor-Saving Devices For County Farmers Will Be Discussed Friday Night At Enon Valley

Lawrence county farmers, particularly those in the southwestern section of the county will be interested in the meeting arranged for Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Enon Valley school building.

At this meeting, arranged by the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association, methods of saving labor on the farm will be discussed.

The date of the birth of Omar Khayyam is unknown, but he was born in Nishapur in Khorassan, and died, it is thought, in 1123.

Wolves Relief Drive Launched

American Relief Drive For Italy Of $5000 Gets Excellent Start Tuesday

Launching of the American Relief for Italy drive towards a goal of $5000, took place Tuesday evening at the regular dinner-meeting of the Wolves club held at The Castleton.

Campaign Chairman Joseph Frenzel outlined the plans of the drive which will continue for some time. Starting the drive off to a good start was the contribution by Al Scarazzo, a personal check of $200, and the Scarazzo brothers, $300, making a total of $500.00.

During the opening meeting discussion was held of ways and means to improve the organizations, and various members participated. Angelo Frediani, president, presided, and A. N. Carbon, campaign treasurer, reported on the amount of contributions so far received.

On Monday evening, March 10, the campaign committee will meet at 9 o'clock to make its first report. On March 18 the club will be hosts to presidents and officers of 17 fraternal and social organizations in Lawrence county.

Bowling was enjoyed afterwards by the group.

Says Unions Enjoy Freedom From Legal Restraint Under Law

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—An industry representative told the senate labor committee today that true collective bargaining has broken down because of the "freedom from legal restraint" which unions enjoy under federal labor laws.

Raymond Smethurst, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, declared:

"The Norris-LaGuardia act and the Wagner act in combination are in effect charters of freedom for the indulgence of union pressure in the form of strikes."

Smethurst said that federal labor statutes have subordinated the rights of union leaders, encouraged labor monopolies and led to government domination of both labor and management.

Meantime, a top CIO official told the house labor committee that pending labor bills are based "not on major problems" but upon "petty grievances of any individual who comes running to Washington."

F.F.A. Boys Will Have Pure-Bred Hog Sale At Wilmington

Youths From Four Counties Will Participate In Pure-Bred Hampshire Hog Sale

An outstanding event for Lawrence County Future Farmers of America boys will take place on Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the New Wilmington Livestock Auction, when a pure-bred Hampshire hog sale will take place.

Col. Ray Hulick of Indianapolis, Ind., nationally known livestock auctioneer, will be present to conduct the sale. Another man of importance in the livestock field will be Charles Kinsey of Peoria, Ill., eastern field man of the Hampshire Breeders Association.

Six years ago, Eli C. Wiggins, vocational agricultural director for Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties, interested vocational agriculture students in the county schools in rising pure-bred Hampshires, and this work has been continued under his successor, James C. Fink.

Their efforts are expected to bear fruit when this auction is conducted. Youths from Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Venango counties will participate. Outstanding boy Hampshire breeders from Lawrence county who will have entries will be Theodore Wallace of New Castle and Wendell W. Wilson of New Wilmington.

Among the visitors will be L. C. Madison and Dr. W. L. Henning of Penn State college, and a number of breeders from Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois are expected to attend.

The hogs which will be placed on auction have been bred to three national championship boars.

SALARY IS $120

Young Farmers To Hear Fullerton

Assistant District Attorney Will Discuss Legal Aspects Of Farming Thursday Evening

On Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock, there will be a meeting of young farmers of Lawrence county, in the county court house, when they will be addressed by Errol Fullerton, assistant district attorney, who will discuss the legal aspects of farming.

This meeting has been arranged under the auspices of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension association, and is open to any young farmer, who is interested in the legal aspects of farming.

Mr. Fullerton is well qualified to speak on the subject, having spent his life on a farm in North Beaver township, and still takes an active interest in farm work during his hours away from the law.

Bacteria are so small it takes about 20,000 of them end to end to form a line an inch long.

Newspaper Says Probe Under Way On Chinese Gold

Declares Discharged U. S. Army
Colonel Being Investigated
On Contraband Gold

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 5.—(INS)—The San Francisco Examiner said Tuesday it has learned that a discharged American army colonel, whose home is in the San Francisco Bay area, is being investigated by federal authorities regarding a "deal" in contraband Chinese gold. The newspaper stated that the transaction reportedly netted the former colonel more than $80,000.

The article said further that the question of whether the army or the U. S. Attorney in this district has jurisdiction over this case has not yet been settled. Army officials were quoted as favoring prosecution in a federal court rather than by court martial.

Neither the Sixth Army headquarters in San Francisco nor the U. S. attorney would discuss the case, the Examiner stated.

The newspaper said army intelligence had ascertained that $150,000 worth of Chinese gold bullion bars had been plundered by the Japanese and cached at the Formosa headquarters of a Japanese general. When U. S. troops arrived at Formosa, the article continued, the general was put in the custody of the colonel who was also ordered to take charge of the gold bullion and deliver it to a Chinese general in Shanghai.

Proceeding to Shanghai with the gold bars in his possession, the colonel was said to have contacted Chinese government representatives, but to have delivered only half of the bullion. The other half, the Examiner said, was "converted into American money" which the colonel brought to the United States with him.

OBSERVE NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK

Four-H members in Lawrence county are joining with 1,700,000 other 4-H'ers in the nation to observe National 4-H Club Week, March 1 to 9. This group of boys and girls all work with their heads, hearts, hands and health for a better club, community and country.

In 1946, Lawrence county's 241 4-H club members produced meat and vegetables, raised dairy calves, made or remodeled clothing, learned to prepare meals and to improve the appearance of their homes. They took part in camps and picnics, studied better health and assisted in community work.

For 1947, 4-H club members with the assistance of their local leaders and the extension workers, will follow these 4-H guide-posts:

1. Developing talents for greater usefulness.
2. Joining with friends for work, fun and fellowship.
3. Learning to live in a changing world.
4. Choosing a way to earn a living.
5. Producing food and fiber for home and market.
6. Creating better homes for better living.
7. Conserving nature's resources for security and happiness.
8. Building health for a strong America.
9. Sharing responsibilities for community improvement.
10. Serving as citizens in maintaining world peace.

Question Six Chicago Women In Dahlia Case

CHICAGO, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Chicago police today held six women for questioning in connection with the murder of Elizabeth Short, the "Black Dahlia," in Los Angeles, January 15.

Members of the homicide squad moved swiftly last night in rounding up the women on information supplied by Los Angeles authorities. They concentrated their investigation on Mrs. Mildred Kolan, 38, a widow, whose description they said tallies most closely with that of a woman named "Billy". Her arrest was requested by Los Angeles police.

"Billy" was named by Mrs. Marie Grieme, formerly of Chicago, as Miss Short's slayer, after Mrs. Grieme was booked yesterday in the Pacific Coast city as a material witness in the slaying.

Mrs. Kolan and the five other women held denied any connection with the murder.

Old Opera House At Conneautville Fire Destroyed

CONNEAUTVILLE, Pa., Mar. 5.—Fire of undetermined origin leveled the old opera house here Tuesday, injuring two, as six persons fled from second floor living quarters into severe winter weather.

Loss in the blaze, which also damaged the adjoining M. B. Thompson Hardware company and threatened a brick movie, was estimated at $80,000 by Fire Chief James Manross.

J. C. Obenheimer, beauty shop operator, discovered the flames and fled with others from the second floor living quarters. He suffered leg injuries. The blast blew him into the street. An unidentified fireman suffered cuts.

Fire companies from Lifesville, Springboro and Meadville aided the Conneautville department.

The fire destroyed the beauty shop, two plumbing shops and a meat market.

WORKERS EARNINGS INCREASE

BOSTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—The New England Shoe and Leather Association Research Bureau announced Tuesday earnings of workers in the industry increased 80 per cent between 1939 and 1946.

Average hourly earnings for shoe workers in 1946 amounted to 93 cents and average weekly earnings $36.17. These represented gains of 85 and 103 per cent respectively over 1939.

Leather workers averaged $44.55 weekly during 1946, compared with $24.43 a week in 1939. Average hourly earnings in 1946 were $1.09, 72 per cent higher than the rate for 1939.

Westminster's Titans Defeat Geneva College 65 To 55

Dembinski Stars As Titans Chase 'Jinx' At Geneva

"Chuckling Chet" Gets 21 Points As Westminster Humbles Geneva Second Time

SEASON ENDS AT W. & J. THURSDAY

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 5.—Westminster's dazzling Titans waited a whole year for the game last night at Geneva, and did just what they said they would—win, and by a decisive 65 to 55 score in hanging up their 21st win of the year against three defeats.

It was just a year ago that the Geneva team put a very decided crimp in the Titans' expected Garden bid by winning 65 to 60 in a tough ball game.

A packed Beaver Falls High gym greeted the two teams last night with all available seats taken. The fans sensed a good game in the offing. They expected the Geneva "jinx" to make good, it didn't even show up for the battle, it was somewhere else—maybe helping "Richard Open the Door."

Chet Dembinski Great
Big rangy "Chuckling Chet" Dembinski, the kingly scorer in the tri-state district, was in the ball game last night up to his ears. He played the best game of the season, getting 21 points to pad his lead in the district and was the main reason for the Westminster victory, as his exhibition inspired his mates.

Don Heddeleston and Freddy Paine also played a great brand of basketball, reaching the double-figure total with 12 and 11 points respectively. Allan McCullough started his first varsity game and responded with a fine defensive display that worried the Genevans and added four points. Dick Fuhrer also played a fine game for the Titans.

Second Period Does It
In the first period, the Geneva team looked as if they might be on the way to avenging that stunning 76 to 53 walloping handed them at Westminster earlier in the year, the valleys leading 14 to 13 as the first stanza ended. The Titans had trouble with the "starter" and the boat was not sailing too smoothly.

It was a different Titan team that took up the burden in the second period, they talked it over during the short intermission, they decided to do something about it, they did. Dembinski, Heddeleston and Paine got hotter than "Fourth of July firecrackers" and started to pile in the field goals with monotonous regularity, monotonous that is to Geneva, not the several hundred Westminster students and fans who braved the icy roads to watch their favorites in action. The Westminster followers really enjoyed it.

The first half ended 32 to 22, and that was the ball game. Geneva was feeble in the second session, or limp we should say, watching the Titans dump them in. It was Westminster 19, Geneva 8 in the period.

Unusual Last Half
The last half of the ball game was unusual. The teams matched point for point. It was all even for the third and fourth quarters, 33-33. They both tallied 17 in the third and 16 apiece in the fourth, just as if they were following a pattern.

The Titans allowed the Genevans to get within three points at 45 to 42 in the third stanza then walked away again. Geneva couldn't get the lead nohow. Podbielski was good for Geneva with 14 points and so was Wampum's Guy Bennett with six and little Joe Cugino with 15, but they were not in a class with the Grover Washabaugh machine last night.

W. & J. Thursday Is Last
Westminster reaches the end of the long 1946-47 collegiate trail on Thursday evening at Washington, Pa., meeting the W. & J. Presidents in a return game. Westminster will try to repeat the 65-54 licking handed the Presidents at New Wilmington earlier in the season. The Titans hope to end the season 22 and 3 and maybe get a tourney bid.

In the reserve game last night the Geneva Reserves salvaged a little glory by trimming the Westminster reserves in a close one 47-43.

BOB HALL BREAKS SWIMMING RECORD AS TITANS WIN

Pittsburgh Freshman Sets New 440-Yard Free-Style Record At Grove City College

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 5.—Young Bob Hall, Pittsburgh freshman at Westminster college, set a new 440-yard free-style record for the Grove City college pool yesterday as the Harold Burry coached Westminster swimming team won 48 to 18 over the Grovers to end the varsity swimming season with three wins.

Hall negotiated the 440-yard lane in the remarkable time of 4:50 to better the record held by Reardon of Slippery Rock at the Grove City pool of 4:57.9. He also set another record recently.

Hall Great Swimmer
Westminster won six first out of the seven events on the card—losing only the 100-yard free-style. Hall also won the 200-yard free-style event, with Black, Brown and Holt winning first in the 50-yard free-style and 150-yard backstroke event, and Brown the 200-yard breast stroke. The Titans also won the two relay events. Coach Burry has done a fine job this year with the swimming team and is to be congratulated.

In Hall, Westminster has a potential great swimming star and one of the brightest to ever grace the Westminster campus.

NEW CASTLE VETS WIN
The New Castle VFW No. 315 post basketball team defeated the Ellwood VFW team last night 50 to 38 at Ellwood City floor with B. Celanski and J. Clark starring for the locals and B. Clark for Ellwood City.

County Quints Begin Tourney Action Tonight

Eight Teams Of Lawrence And Butler Counties At George Washington High Court

Annual cage tournament involving high school fives of Lawrence and Butler counties will start tonight at the George Washington high court with four tilts on tap for the opening round.

At 7 p. m. Bessemer will clash with Zelienople, the 8 p. m. game involves Union and Mars, at 9 p. m. it will be Evans City against Mt. Jackson, and the final contest, at 10 p. m. will pair Shenango and New Wilmington.

Resume Friday
Friday night the teams will resume with the semi-finals, plus consolation games, making four battles that evening, also. Saturday night will be the championship encounter, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Student tickets for the games will cost 25 cents and blocks of these pasteboards will be distributed at the competing schools. Adult tickets will be 50 cents, with no advance sale. The doors will open at 6:15 tonight and Friday at 6:45.

Shenango's Wildcats walked off with the honors last year, the tourney being staged at Evans City.

Dewey A. C. Five Ready For Tourney

Dewey A. C. has readied a cage team to enter the junior tournament for the city-county title which will be played at the Y. M. C. A. beginning March 14.

Such players as Sheehy, Eppinger, Magno, McCombs, Stone and Miller will represent the club. The quint will be coached by Ron Nelson and Jack Adams of the sports committee.

Change Pulaski Game To Tonight

K. Pulaski's tournament tilt with the Toronto Legion scheduled for East Liverpool last night will be played tonight instead at the Ohio court due to the fact that the high school team of the city was using the gym Tuesday.

All Pulaski players are asked to report to the club rooms by 6 p. m. sharp to make the trip.

Church League Games Tonight

Two games will be played in the New Castle church league at the "Y" tonight, with one exhibition game. At 7:15 o'clock the Wampum and First U. P. teams tangle at 8:15—the Epworth team meets the VFW No. 315 Post team, in a no-loop affair, and at 9:15—St. George will battle the Central Christians.

MISS GRILLO WINS
Mrs. Barclay K. Douglas' Miss Grillo came from seventh place in the featured $25,000 Black Helen handicap at Hialeah to win the closing event by a nose.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAMES
Two House league games were played at the "Y" last night as follows: Wings 26, Redskins 27; South Side Lions 35, Ramblers 32.

Plans for a basketball clinic for Villanova college students who did not qualify for the varsity squad this season have been announced by Coach Al Severance.

TWO hard fights within two nights is something that Russell Baxter doesn't care to go through, hence his Cleveland Arena bout with Bobby Burns of Toledo, March 10, has been cancelled and he's in training for the battle with Larry Huff of Pittsburgh, March 12, in the Arena here.

Larry is the chap who belted out Regis O'Brien in the third round after Regis had returned from military service and won five bouts. Huff has fought Young Charlie Zivic, Henry Jackson, Red Stein, Sam Ross, Art Kimmel who fought here, Alvin Young and Sonny Jordan. He is said to be a stiff puncher. Before going into military service he had 65 fights. During his time in the army he fought 50 times and hopes to nail Baxter. On the March 12 card will be two former popular amateurs, Charlie Napp of New Bethlehem and Benny Newkirk of New Castle. They weigh 144.

When Armed was taken to race in the Santa Anita handicap they took 90 gallons of Florida water and also his feed from the state, according to Jack Herbert, life-guard at Miami who writes Here & There that "Armed got his name because he was born during the war and armed forces were all around, and also from his mother, named Armful. Most race horses at Hialeah" Jack writes "have a pal. It is either a goat, dog or cat. In Armed's case he has a little pony as a pal and he's no good without him. So the pony was taken along to Arcadia, Calif."

Gus Lesnevich who stopped Billy Fox in the tenth round in New York, is considering a tour of Sweden and a fight with Freddy Mills in London next spring. Youngsters in the Indians camp this spring will have the benefit of sterling advice of Tris Speaker and Rogers Hornsby.

Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight champion, and Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., battle in London, April 15. . . . Western Pennsylvania high school football coaches will gather in Pittsburgh, March 29, to attend a one-day football clinic, sponsored by the WPIAL and conducted by Dr. John B. (Jack) Sutherland, head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Doc Blanchard, Army griddler, figured no one would miss him at one class if he missed one day. This is why Doc is confined to post for two months. . . . Oklahoma clinched the Big Six basketball crown a few nights ago. . . . Stan Musial is in the Cards lineup at a substantial increase in salary. . . . Hershey, Pa., has a stadium which seats 15,000, seven swimming pools, three or four gymnasiums, an arena for hockey, and several golf courses. . . . Game violators in New York during 1946, numbered 4,091 who paid fines amounting to $84,752.

Jersey Joe Defeats Ray

Walcott Floors Violent Elmer Several Times, Wins Split Decision

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 5.—(INS)—Jersey Joe Walcott, 33-year-old boxer from Camden, N. J., was ranked today as the chief contender for Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis' crown.

Walcott moved to No. 1 spot on the challengers' list by outpointing Elmer (Violent) Ray of Hastings, Fla., in a close 10-round bout last night before 15,000 fans at Miami's Orange Bowl stadium.

The defeat was Ray's first in 52 fights and ousted him from the position now held by Walcott.

The decision favoring the New Jersey negro was not unanimous. One judge called the bout a draw, another gave Walcott a 51 to 49 point edge, while the referee ruled 52 points for the invader and 43 for Ray.

Walcott's fast start built up a lead which Ray's late rally was unable to overcome.

Ray Down Several Times
Jersey Joe took the offensive in the first four rounds, crowding Ray to such an extent that the "violent" one hit the floor once in each of the rounds. But Ray bounced up again without a count.

The Florida boxer fought back in the sixth and took the offensive play away from Walcott. But he was unable to score with the knock-out punch which has flattened 50 of his opponents the last two years.

Three times in the eighth round Ray threw kayo wallops at Walcott. But each time the New Jersey veteran evaded the punches and he continued to box steadily thru-out the rest of the bout.

The victory reversed a decision rendered against Jersey Joe last November in New York when Ray defeated him in a 10-round battle.

All-Stars Will Battle Titans At Arena Floor

Optimist Club Arranges Big Benefit Game For Monday Night March 10th

New Castle basketball fans who have never seen Westminster College's Titan machine in action will have an opportunity at the Arena next Monday evening at 9 o'clock. The New Castle Optimist Club has booked the mighty Titans of Grover Washabaugh for a battle with the New Castle All-Stars coached by Bill Douglass. The Optimists will use the proceeds to further boys' work activities.

There will be a good preliminary game featuring the New Castle Scholastics (members of the Douglass 1947-48 high school team), and the Colored "Y" Stars. The prelim gets under way at 7:30 o'clock.

Seats for 2,300 Fans
The owner of the Arena, Mr. Shaw has arranged to have about 2,300 seats available for the fans who will want to see this gigantic attraction. General chairman of the benefit game is Gus Slovinsky, well-known local merchant and sportsman. Tickets for the game have been printed and can be secured at the Sporting Goods Store, Ray's Place on East Washington street, Gus' store on East Washington street, and Marlin's on West Long avenue.

Coach Grover Washabaugh has promised to have his varsity intact for the Monday battle, with "Chuckling Chet" Dembinski, the top-scorer in the Tri-State college circles at center. Dembinski will be the cynosure of all eyes as he displays his prowess at the Arena. Coach Bill Douglass will have the "pick" of New Castle to shove at the Titans—Billy Andrews, Pop Adams, Eddie Koszela, the Pitzer brothers, "Huck" McGary, and probably Freddy Wilmer and Chink Ditkin, Paul Morrison, Rags Gennock, Zubkowski, Ken Cadogan and others.

The Westminster team has won 21 and lost three this year. The Titans end their season at W. & J. Thursday.

LARRY HUFF BEATS TURNER

Uses Longer Reach To Score And Wins Decision Of Officials In Bout

Larry Huff, Pittsburgh, last night in Pittsburgh defeated Ted Turner, stablemate of Dorsey Lay, Philadelphia, in six rounds. He used his longer reach to advantage and was given the unanimous decision. Larry is matched to box Russell Baxter of this city in The Arena here, March 12.

New Castle will be at home next Monday with the Evans City team. New Castle won the first-half championship and are assured of a match shoot if they lose the second-half.

Johnny Izzo Beats Komlo

Former Seventh Ward 'Middle' Wins In Opening Round In Eastern Meet

Johnny Izzo, Seventh Ward amateur middleweight, upset the dope in New York in the opening round of the eastern amateurs when he defeated Johnny Komlo of Waynesburg, Komlo won the Dapper Dan meet, which was held recently at Pittsburgh.

Izzo played football here in 1941-42, then went into service and has been representing Roselle Park, Newark, N. J., in the amateurs.

Hennon declared that he will stick to the same lineup which defeated Leedsdale, 52-42, in the first round game at New Brighton last Friday, but said he may have to alter his tactics to meet the situation against the unbeaten Section XX "Ghosts."

The Wampum mentor will take his squad to Dormont this week to acquaint them with the floor before the vital battle Friday.

"We have a lot of work to do," said the Indian mentor, "but I know the boys will do all in their power to win this big one. We hope to give them a whale of a battle. Then, too, that 23 straight record is something to shoot at."

Name Committee From Congress To Probe 'Beer War'

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—(INS)—A three-man house labor subcommittee was named Tuesday to launch a first-hand study of the prolonged "beer war" in Pittsburgh. The committee will probe the jurisdictional dispute in the Steel City between the CIO brewery workers and the AFL teamsters union, which has resulted in several bombings and other "incidents".

Named to the group were Rep. McConnell (R. Pa.), chairman; Rep. Kearns (R. Pa.) and Rep. Kelley (D. Pa.). They will go to Pittsburgh Thursday.

In March in northern U. S. most male prairie chickens are on the booming grounds, but the females are not yet ready to mate.

Japanese Witness Says Japan Made Deal With Russia

TOKYO, Mar. 5.—(INS)—The first witness called by the defense in the Tokyo war crimes trial testified that Japan had made a secret deal with Russia in 1928 to set up an autonomous new state on the Asiatic continent. The testimony was given by Tadashiko Okada who held a succession of government posts before and during the war. Okada had been summoned specifically as a witness for "Pearl Harbor Premier" Hideko Tojo, most important of the 26 defendants.

Alas, if you keep your chin up, all that your associates will notice is that you have your nose in the air.—Chicago Tribune.

In 1705, a man named Richard Nash went to Bath, English spa. He had no money but had ideas and a persuasive way, and did much to develop Bath as a fashionable watering place. He reigned as the social leader, his clothes and manners were copied by the rich. His luck waned in 1745, but the Bath town council gave him a pension and he died there in 1751. He was known as Beau Nash. Gardens in Pratolino, Italy, in the 16th century, had systems of hidden springs which spurted jets of water on unsuspecting guests in grottos, on garden stairs and even when they sat on tables. Woodcuts of such medieval gardens can be seen in the Metropolitan museum of Art, New York City.

By 1812 a number of iron-hulled canal boats were in service in England. In 1821 a steam-propelled iron ship, the Aaron Manby, was launched in England and is given credit as the first ocean-going iron vessel.
